STUDENT LOANS & CONSUMER PROTECTION

Postsecondary Student Loans :

These are important words to know as you are going through the process of applying for a loan!

Co-Signer:	A credit-worthy individual, usually a parent or spouse, who has agreed to share the responsibility for repayment with a student.
Default:	Being delinquent in repaying a student loan more than a predetermined number of days or failure to comply with any of the other terms of the promissory note.
Deferment:	A postponement of the loan repayment. Conditions for deferment vary by loan program.
Delinquency:	Missing a scheduled payment on a student loan. If delinquency persists, default will occur.
Disbursement:	Providing loan funds to the student or to the institution on the student's behalf. A student loan can be disbursed in multiple payments. Disbursements can be sent electronically to the student's school to credit his or her school account.
Forbearance:	An arrangement to postpone or reduce a borrower's monthly payment amount for a limited and specified amount of time, or to extend the repayment period. The borrower is charged interest during the forbearance.
Interest:	A fee charged to borrow money. Interest charges are in addition to the principal of the loan.
Interest Subsidy:	The payment of interest on subsidized loans by the U.S. Department of Education for student borrowers while they are in school.
Principal:	The amount borrowed by the student before interest is charged.
Promissory Note:	The legal document signed by the borrower prior to receiving a student loan. Besides containing a promise to repay the loan, it lists the conditions of the loan and terms for repayment.
Servicer:	A loan servicer sends borrowers bills for payment, collects payment for the lender and maintains the borrower's loan accounts. Lenders, like the U.S. Department of Education, pay servicers to provide this function.

Student Loans are available from the federal government and state of Minnesota

How to Evaluate a Loan

Each loan has its own characteristics and features.

Here are some great questions to help you compare your options:

- What is the total cost to repay the loan (including the fees, principal and interest)?
- How long it will take to repay the loan?
- How much are the monthly payments?
- What are the late payment penalties?
- Can it be consolidated with other loans?
- Can payments be deferred if you re-enter college?
- Can payments be deferred if you experience financial difficulties?

Loan Options

Federal Subsidized and Unsubsidized Direct Loans

The federal government makes Direct, Perkins and PLUS loans directly to students through schools across the country. No banks or guarantee agencies are involved. The U.S. Department of Education is the lender.

Subsidized Direct Loans are disbursed on a need-based assessment. The federal government pays interest while the student is in school. Unsubsidized Direct Loans are not need based. Interest accrues while the student is in school.

Interest rates are the same for federal Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized Loans. For graduate students, the comparable interest rate is 5.31%. Interest rates for new loans from July 1, 2016 to June 30, 2017 are 3.76% for undergraduates. The amount you repay is based on how much you borrow.

Eligibility Requirements:

You must attend school at least half time, and your school must determine your financial need.

To apply, complete the FAFSA. You will then need to sign a promissory note, agreeing to repay your loan. The loan disbursements will be sent to your school. Most loans are disbursed in two or more payments.

Federal Perkins Loans

The Federal Perkins Loan program provides long-term, low-interest, fixed rate (5%) loans to undergraduate and graduate students who demonstrate financial need. Loan amounts depend on whether your college participates, your financial need and the amount of other aid you receive.

Federal Perkins Loan Limits

Undergraduate students may borrow up to $5,500 per year and up to $27,500 total.

Graduate students may borrow up to $8,000 per year and up to $60,000 total (including money borrowed in undergraduate).

Eligibility Requirements:

You must be an undergraduate student at a participating school. Priority is given to Federal Pell Grant recipients. You must be a U.S. citizen or eligible non-citizen.

Visit your financial aid office to see if you are eligible to apply, the institution serves as the loan lender. Each school has its own application deadline. Not all schools participate in the Perkins Loan Program.

The SELF Loan is a Minnesota loan program. More than 480 institutions in Minnesota and out of state participate in the program. To find out if an institution participates, visit www.selfloan.state.mn.us.

Students are able to select either a fixed- or variable-rate SELF Loan. The fixed rate is 6.5%, and the variable rate is 3.3% as of July 2016. There are no guarantee or origination fees with the SELF Loan.

The loan limit for students enrolled in bachelor's degree, post-baccalaureate or graduate programs at participating schools is $20,000 per year. Students enrolled in all other programs are eligible for up to $7,500 per year.

To be eligible, a student must:

- Be enrolled in an eligible school in Minnesota or be a Minnesota Resident Student enrolled in an eligible school in another state
- Be enrolled at least half time in a certificate, associate, baccalaureate or graduate degree program
- Have a credit-worthy co-signer who is a U.S. citizen or permanent resident
- Not be delinquent or in default on a SELF or other outstanding student loan

To apply, complete the FAFSA. The campus financial aid administrator will determine the maximum amount a student may borrow and recommend a loan amount. The maximum cannot exceed the cost of attendance minus all other financial aid you are receiving. In some cases, students and co-signers have to apply beforehand because colleges cannot recommend loans.

Private or Alternative Loans

Private or Alternative loans are available from private lenders, such as banks, savings and loan associations or credit unions. Depending on the credit strength of the borrower/co-signer, these loans may cost more than federal loans, or the SELF Loan. For more information and assistance, contact the private lenders directly or the financial aid administrator at the school you attend or plan to attend.

STOP

Before you apply make sure you look into any federal education loans you may be eligible for. You should understand the benefits of federal loans, such as:

- No interest payments required during school for subsidized federal loans
- Low fixed interest rates • Deferments
- Forbearances • Loan forgiveness • Various repayment plans (including income based)

For information on federal loans visit www.federalstudentaid.ed.gov

Don't borrow more than you need. Remember, this isn't free money – you need to pay interest while you are in school and then repay what you borrowed.

Loan Repayment Options

This chart provides a guideline for the estimated minimum salary you would need to repay different levels of student loan debt.

Amount Borrowed	Monthly Payments (120 payments)	Estimated Income Level
$10,000	$115	$14,400
$15,000	$173	$21,600
$20,000	$230	$28,800
$23,000	$265	$33,100
$30,000	$345	$43,200
$40,000	$460	$57,500
$50,000	$575	$71,900
$65,500	$754	$94,200

There are many repayment options for loans, be sure to pick the best option for your loan type and amount of debt.

Income Based Loan Repayment

Income based repayment is a federal program, in which the amount a borrower pays on federal Stafford loans each month is based on their income and family size. Because this program has the borrower making smaller payments in the first years of repayment, borrowers will pay more interest on the loan over time.

Public Service Loan Forgiveness

Public service loan forgiveness is a federal provision available to people working in public sector and nonprofit jobs, once they have made 10 years of payments on their federal loans. Payments made on or after October 1, 2007 qualify, so the federal government will not begin providing the loan forgiveness until October 2017. Public school teachers and state employees qualify. The eligibility criteria and list of occupations are available from the U.S. Department of Education.

Loan Consolidation/Refinancing

If you have outstanding balances on several different federal loans, you may be able to combine them into one new consolidated loan with one monthly repayment. This reduces the size of your monthly payments by extending your repayment period for 10 to 30 years, depending on your total debt. Other loan consolidation or refinancing programs are available from the Minnesota Office of Higher Education, participating private or state lenders such as banks, credit unions, and savings and loan associations.

Defaulting on Your Loan

If you fail to repay your loan, you will be in default. Your lender and the state and federal governments can take action to recover the money:

- Your tax refunds may be withheld
- Part of your salary may be withheld if you work for the federal government
- You may be sued and taken to court
- Credit bureaus will be informed and your future credit rating may be affected, which may make it difficult to borrow money for a car or a house
- You will not be able to obtain additional state or federal student aid until you make satisfactory arrangements to repay

Beware of Financial Aid Search Companies

Some financial aid search companies offer to match students with financial aid for a fee.

Be cautious in using these services. There are no guarantees the company will find any sources of financial aid that you cannot find yourself.

The following are some questions to consider if you use a search company or financial aid consultant:

- Does the company maintain its own scholarship database?
- Do the sources include federal and state programs for which the student will be considered through the regular financial aid application process?
- Do the sources include institutional scholarships about which the student would be notified once accepted to the college?
- How often does the company update its list of aid sources?
- Are there application fees for the sources provided?

Proceed with caution if you notice any of these red flags:

- Requests your personal information, such as: bank accounts, credit cards or social security number
- Uses excessive hype and claims high success rates
- Requires up-front money for application fees
- Has typing and spelling errors on application materials
- Lists no telephone number for the business
- Suggests influence with scholarship sponsors
- Pressures you to respond quickly If you have been the victim of a scholarship scam, file a complaint and report the fraud.

Consumer Protection

If you have been the victim of a scholarship scam, file a complaint and report the fraud.

Student Advocacy and Consumer Protection

Colleges licensed and registered by the Minnesota Office of Higher Education are held accountable by our agency. If you have a bad experience or believe the institution has not met its promises, you can file a complaint through our Student Advocate. The Minnesota Office of Higher Education will investigate complaints regarding colleges who are out of compliance with state standards.
